Rev. John F. Cox, S. J., New Dean of Studies

REV. JOHN F. COX, S.J.

FR. SULLIVAN'S SUCCESSOR

Former Freshman Dean Has Had Wide Experience

One humble member of our interviewing staff tried for two days and part of a third to reach our new Dean. His secretary's office was mobbed with people who wanted things straightened out. Anxious-faced students and busy professors stood in line waiting upon the Dean. Everybody seemed to have some difficulty small or large. Hence our reporter took pity on the Dean and gave up the idea of a direct interview. The quickest method to find out anything about the Dean was to go scouting on one's own hook.

Brighton, Massachusetts claims the honor of being Father Cox's natal city. After his Boston College days, we learned that his next ten years of intensive study were spent in New York State, Massachusetts, and Washington.

It seems that our new Dean has, since his earliest years as professor of the classics, been identified with studies for during his three years at St. Peter's College in Jersey City he was assistant to Head Master. Father Cox's four years of theology were made at Weston College.

The summer of 1931 saw him as Freshman Dean at our college and with the exception of a year's private study at the Bellarmine Hall, Cohasset, Holy Cross has been favored in having him as one of its most active executives.

An initial meeting with the new Dean gives one a fine idea of what real efficiency means. Further acquaintance shows his scholarly grasp of all studies not only in the college but the university field. Before one realizes it, the student sees breaking through the exterior of scholarly efficiency the human side of the man and the kindly side of the priest both constantly on the qui vive to advise in scholastic difficulty, to comfort in adversity, in short to be a general help-mate to all Holy Cross men.

GOV. HURLEY GUEST

The college was highly honored to have His Excellency, Governor Charles F. Hurley and his staff at the initial contest of the current football season. Those of us who were here last year remember his presence at the memorable Colgate game. The student body gave an enthusiastic welcome to the present head of the state government as the traditional 'Hoiah' was lustily shouted in his honor. His broad smile, his democratic wave and the characteristic Hurley affability prompt us to ask, "When next may we have the pleasure?"

Year Opened By Solemn Mass

The current year was formally opened according to custom by the solemn Mass of the Holy Ghost, yesterday morning. The Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Francis J. Dolan, S.J., President of the College, assisted by the Rev. John F. Cox, S.J., Dean of Studies and the Rev. John J. Reed, S.J., Dean of Discipline. Rev. Joseph Busam, S.J. was Master of Ceremonies.

Solos were sung by Charles Collins, '38, Joseph Zeinz, '38, James Bogue, '38, Edward Maley, '38, James Taaffe, '39, Robert Gavin, '39, and Carl Blakely, '38. The choir assisted.

The choir program: Prelude—Prelude and Fugue by Bach; Processional Largo from Xerxes; Missa Stella Matutina—V. Carnevalli; Kyrie, Gloria, Credo; Offertory, Veni Creator Spiritus, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei; Recessional—Come Holy Ghost. Traditional; Postlude—War March of Priest by Mendelssohn.

Key Committee Welcomes '41

At every turn, for every need, in every trying situation, whenever a project needs enthusiasm, the Purple Key is the answer. The committee appointed by the Key to welcome the freshmen certainly acquitted themselves nobly. As hosts to the frosh and their families they were living links between the Cross with its tradition and those men of '41 who are some day to become a part of the Hill's lore.

Fred McGrath and his associates, Leo Reddish, Bob Buck, Bill Collins, Jim Morris, Jim McHugh, John Radley, Bernie Kane, Paul Cross, Bob Maheu, Frank Mullen and Stuart Cosgriff were here all day during the entrance exams to comfort the timid applicants. More than that they consoled and advised the frosh in any of a thousand problems.

We fellows who came up here to be greeted by nothing but registration cards, really can appreciate what Fred and his friends did.

Success as a playwright has come the way of John Haley Driscoll, '35, former editor of the Purple. Tomorrow night at 8 P. M. over the Columbia Broadcasting System the first of six original dramas written by Driscoll will be presented. The program is being sponsored by the Dupont Cavalcade of America. The broadcast will be from the Little Theatre off Times Square where Driscoll's initial play is being staged.

Fr. Rector Names Alumni Head

The most important appointment of our Reverend President concerning the coming year was the naming of the Reverend Joseph Sullivan, S.J., our former Dean of Studies to the Directorship of the Holy Cross Alumni Association. Father Sullivan has a host of friends among the graduates. His kind disposition and his genial manner that so endeared him to the student body during his successful reign as dean are only a few of the characteristics that qualify him for this new and important post.

PURPLE ISSUES INAUGURAL

It's only the beginning, only the beginning — that first issue of the Purple! More are coming from the scintillating pens of its staff and contributors. It will be hard to improve on the Purples that Father Mear's writers have produced, but if it can be done it will be done this year. Guest writers, "discoveries," innovations and bright new features will make their appearance. The October issue is a good indication of the future. Herewith is a brief review for those unfortunates who have not read it as yet:

Heading the month's presentation are two discussions of dramatists, one of the era just passed, and one of the present time, James M. Barrie and Maxwell Anderson. In "The Odd Fellow from Kirriemuir," Thomas J. Fitzmorris, a staff writer for "America," explains how Mr. Barrie influenced contemporary drama very little.

Writing on Maxwell Anderson, Daniel J. Culliton, '38, tells of the struggle Anderson had to reach the top following the failure of his first play in 1923. Mr. Anderson today sits on the pinnacle of American drama with Eugene O'Neill, after the presentation of three hit plays last year.

Francis W. Sweeney, '39, presents four pieces to the October issue, three poems and one story. Editor William A. McCormack, '38, John McA. Cleary, '40, and John B. Plouffe, '40, also contribute poems to the opening number.

The October "Purple" also introduces the statue of Christ the King to the student body. Placed during the summer, the statue's first picture appears in the monthly.

The Round Table discusses chances and prospects for the football team's success and the Coffee House offers an interesting discussion of nothing.

Dyer, '41 Is First To Register

Freshman From Maine Is On Hand When Doors Open

More than six feet of brown-haired, smiling freshman led the parade of registrants when John F. Dyer of Kokad-jo, Maine, waited outside the Registrar's door at 8.45, Saturday, September 18. By 9.30 that morning a long line had formed at that vantage point but Dyer held on and earned the title of the first Crusader of '41. Dyer dwells in the heart of the Maine woods, living with his parents in a sturdy lodge, five miles from the nearest house, twenty-five miles from the nearest town, Greenville, and fifty miles from the nearest city, Bangor.

John F. Dyer, who gained the distinction of being the first enrolled member of the Class of '41. Story on the left of this caption.

A REPRESENTATIVE WILL CALL

He is a graduate of Hebron Academy, located in Lewiston, Maine; he spent his spare time there, waiting to get back to Kokad-jo where he could pursue his favorite hobby or profession—guiding. He is a licensed guide, has hunted and fished all his life, and dipped his hook into most of the 2800 ponds and lakes of Maine.

As a guide he conducts trips through the woods for any length of time and to any place you want to go. Since the duties of a guide are as Dyer said "cooking, canoeing, traveling by instinct and telling stories," he can do them all. In regard to stories, like Jimmy Durante, Dyer claims he has "a meelion of 'em." Fortunately, no bear has tried to hug him to death. "I can tell you gory things that happened to other people," Dyer said, "but nothing ever happened to me."

Asked why he came to Holy Cross, he said: "I knew it was a good school, I wanted to go to a good school, so here I am!" He was equally succinct in his first impression of the college. In his clipped Maine accent he explained that he thought the Cross had "a good campus — nice buildings — congenial crowd of fellows and the best thing is — er — "No class distinction!" his room-mate Tom Connolly interposed. "Yeh—everybody's on the same level. I like that," concluded Dyer.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY

All students, especially freshmen, who are desirous of joining the Sanctuary Society, should see either Raymond J. Swords, '38, or Thomas F. Moriarty, '38, during the current week. Previous training is not necessary.

Sodalists Launch New Campaign

That Sodality is at it again. Scarcely had the lads dragged their furniture from the cage and hung the curtains when Prefect Sullivan called an executive session of the officers. (Note: from now on its Chairman Sullivan of the Student Spiritual Council — but it is still the Sodality.) Tentative plans for the coming year were drawn up, to be confirmed at the next meeting of the SSC this week. Nominations were received to fill the vacancies made by the departure of three of last year's Councillors.

Dynamic is the word for the Sodality this year. Last year's ultra-successful dance started something that seemingly can't be stopped. Colliers and the Saturday Evening Post are going to have new companions when the pamphlet rack is set up in the cafeteria. Freshmen have already heard about the Missals the Sodality is offering. Something brand new in the way of spiritual meetings is being planned in the fertile brains of the SSC. Guest speakers are promised by way of variety to spice the program. And the good old open forum will be back to satisfy the cravings of those who hunger for self-expression. Watch out, you Communists!

PATCHER EDITOR OVER BUSY DESK BLAZES ONWARD

We knocked once, then twice and finally Tully Ripton, editor of The Purple Patcher (1938 edition) was cornered in his den in Lower Loyola where he was ensconced on a desk packed tight with galley proofs, photographs and letters. The genial editor told us that work on the Patcher had been going steadily forward during the summer and that over half of his "dummy" is now complete.

Jim Ginty and John Newman, veteran sportswriters on the TOMAHAWK, have been recruited to form the nucleus of a sports staff which bids fair to make the sports department of the Annual really outstanding. They got in their initial work at last week's St. Anselm's game.

The tentative date for the Patcher's annual dance is November 6, the week end of the Colgate game.

FATHER SHEA NEW DEAN

The freshman tide rolled, swelled, and closed in on the corridors of First Fenwick, Monday morning, 20th, surged slowly from office to office, and checked its course at the doors of the Freshman Dean. And there it met with a new personality. In the place of the able and efficient Fr. Cox, now installed as Dean of the College, Rev. Leo A. Shea, S.J., took up his new position, observing and meeting the stream of freshmen coming to his doors.

REV. LEO A. SHEA, S.J.
Welcome back, Father

To him no strange surroundings were these, for Fr. Shea returns to Holy Cross, after an absence of several years, finding for himself not the professor's rostrum, as expected, but the mahogany desk of the Dean of Freshmen. Parting company with Homer, Demosthenes, Aeschylus, he brings his mind now to focus upon the problems of Freshmen. And who shall say whether they are few or many, great or small? Let Freshmen feel sure that Fr. Shea knows college men, nay more, knows college freshmen. Days spent on the Hill as a Scholastic-regent supply him with a background equipped to meet the problems of all members of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Bands Play As Cheers Thunder Out; Fall Brings Rally Days To The Hill

Amid salvos of applause and cheers the opening football rally of the season was held in the Chapel Auditorium last Friday evening. Following several selections rendered by the band under the direction of the incomparable Mr. Bouvier, master of ceremonies, Fred McGrath, introduced the cheer leaders, Leo Reddish, Bernie Kane, Bill McDonald and Tom Meehan. These fellows then proceeded to liven up the proceedings by leading the boys in cheers and songs.

Bob Mautner, our popular football captain, then stressed the need for the strongest kind of support from the student body. Bob personally introduced the individual members of the squad. All the players were greeted with enthusiastic applause.

After announcing that Buzz Harvey, one of Holy Cross football immortals, had been unavoidably detained, McGrath introduced Joseph A. Romanos, '41, who sang two selections. Popular music was provided by the saxophone solos of band members.

TOMAHAWK MEETING

A meeting of the entire TOMAHAWK staff will be held tomorrow night immediately after chapel in the TOMAHAWK office (lower Loyola). All Freshmen interested in joining the reportorial or business staff of the TOMAHAWK are requested to attend. Come one. Come all.

FOR FRESHMEN IN PARTICULAR

There is nothing the TOMAHAWK can add to the welcome accorded to the Freshman Class by the Purple Key on Registration Day and daily thereafter by the upperclassmen with their flow of friendly greetings. We can only re-echo the sentiments of the entire student body and say "Welcome Class of 1941!"

You have already noted that traditional "democratic spirit" of which Holy Cross is justly proud; you have shown your willingness to add to the prestige and glory of "the Cross." Our hope is that you will foster that "democratic spirit" so that it may permeate every freshman class to come; our hope is that you will actually increase the prestige of Holy Cross by studying well and playing hard.

It is this sane balance of study and play which has done so much to create that indefinable Holy Cross spirit. That spirit which impels the true Crusader to have always before him the honor of his Alma Mater and to apply himself on all occasions to the increasing of that honor.

He does not confine himself to book-learning. He practices what he has "been preached." He takes his classroom knowledge into the laboratories of extra-curricular activities and in this way makes himself a complete man, a credit to his college.

All this week undergraduate organizations are holding their initial meetings. Their doors are open to everyone. The welcome you found on Registration Day, will be as enthusiastic when you enroll in the Debating Society, the Musical Clubs, the Sanctuary Society, or whatever your choice may be. Join now! Show that you appreciate the welcome given you and become a part of Holy Cross.

NOISE-CAMPAIGN

Every year at this time there is much talk about the cheering at the football games. Unfortunately the comment is usually adverse. The tremendous uproar raised at indoor rallies never seems to repeat itself when the stadium is the locale. Whether the cause is the fresh air, the crowds or "something more irrelevant", we don't know. We know it isn't a lack of spirit.

Indeed, we can find no good reason for this vocal apathy. The cheer leaders certainly exert their most vigorous influence, the team is reason enough to cheer until we're hoarse, the stadium is willing to resound and re-echo all the noise we can make. So let's deafen our critics with short Hoiahs, regular Hoiahs, bugle cheers and song.

By J. Joseph Kierce, '39

A Tribute: To the gallant crusaders who have answered the Divine call to labor in the vineyard of the Master. Kuziora, Duncan, Rossiter, Wiest, Duffy, Hall (to mention but a few) were exemplars of the highest ideals of Holy Cross. What they were augurs for what they will be.

Freshmen, you'll find out it's true: Coming to Holy Cross creates an obligation that will not be satisfied with "much obliged" on Commencement Day.

Salute to the Purple's remark about cheering: The strange thing about cheerleading is that the cheer inevitably follows the leading — or does it?

What they did:

Poet Osmanski—studying meters.
Farmer Collins—haying in Stoneham.
Lifesaver Ouellette — treading sun-bleached sands of Lawrence.

Overheard in Alumni: Coweyed junior, "Alumni won't look the same again." Soph, with or without the twinkle, "Won't it! . . ."

Soph's attitude: "I want to study rhetoric so that some day I can be an orator at the bar." (He may give a "Speech from the Bock" at Easter Time).

Nota Bene: The floor in the bowling alleys has been refinished. Students expect to work it into shape.

Painters have a holiday on Mt. St. James. The historic kalsomine of dear old Alumni, that kept so many serge suits in the white, has lost countenance.

Student similes: As versatile as Joe Bier; as sartorially perfect as Tom Casey, '41.

Headline in a Worcester paper: "Bartolini plunges thirty feet"; must be one of the Freshman football players.

Quotes of the week: Joe Zeinz (sporting a few hairs on his upper lip), "I raised this moustache so that the horn wouldn't stick to my lips."

Prefect of the Sanctuary Society, "There will be no more honorary members in the Sanctuary Society (five o'clock, fellows!)"

Business is always picking up for Joe Flynn; or, as Joe puts it, "My job is picking up the heavy crumbs."

Overheard in O'Kane: "Bill, what's the blacklist?" (Don't worry, kid, you'll soon find out).

Speaking about cheerleading prompts us to make note of the favorable comment attending the baptism of the new cheerleaders. But, with two juniors in the lineup, how could it be otherwise?

Summer shot in N. Y. Daily News in answer to question, "Do you think you are a sheik."—"Certainly. I come from the home of the sheiks, Worcester, Mass. There we have Holy Cross and a few other smaller colleges. You see sheiks at every street corner, and you can't help imitating their mannerisms and becoming a sheik yourself."

At this time of the year preparations were under way for a Latin play "Sybilla" and a Greek play "Eutropius."

The college lists shows a decided increase in numbers over last year. In Philosophy (senior) there are 28; Rhetoric (junior) has 34; there are 59 in Poetry (sophomore) and 52 in First Humanities (freshman).

Sockalexis is a fine hurdler and long distance runner. He will try to best the world's record for throwing the baseball. He holds at present the unofficial record of 408½ feet, the longest throw ever made!

40 YEARS AGO

The New York Sun saw us in the following light: "Deserving of particular attention among the Catholic institutions for higher education is the College of The Holy Cross at Worcester, . . . An extensive capacity for usefulness is attested to by the fact that the list of professors and instructors comprises over 30 members, while the student body numbers 250!"

"It is well that the author is making these volumes, published originally as a digest of lectures for students of philosophy at Holy Cross College, accessible to a larger reading public."

—America.
"The amount of matter included in these texts is noteworthy. Students completing the two volumes will have passed a fairly active two-semester course and may feel that they have practically all the essentials and details that a course in Scholastic Ethics can offer."

—Modern Schoolman, May, 1930.
"Father Sullivan has presented his theses in syllogistic form. This adds greatly to the value of these volumes both in the classroom and in the hands of students."—Catholic World, November, 1930.

"I like your orderly arrangement and method in treating the subject and find your books very useful."
Rev. John F. Wilson, O.S.A., Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

"This last definition, gentlemen, I take from the 'Special Ethics' of one of your neighbors, Rev. Joseph Sullivan, S.J., professor of Ethics in Holy Cross College, a book which, by the way, I take the liberty to recommend to you. . . . I feel sure that if you read that book you will admit that you will have been helped to think more clearly and more helpfully on what is right and wrong in all these domains."

Professor Louis J. A. Mercier, A.M., Litt.D., Harvard University. (From an address delivered before the Springfield, Mass. City Club.)

"The exposition is uniformly clear and the arguments well sustained."—Ecclesiastical Review, October, 1930.

"We are finding these volumes very satisfactory for the senior class in philosophy as a text book."

Rev. Frank J. Monaghan, College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, N. J.

PURPLE PENNINGS

O'DONNELL PRAISES CRUSADERS

The St. Anselm dressing room after the game Saturday was as noisy as the editorial staff of the TOMAHAWK on Monday night but we did manage to corral Cleo O'Donnell and coax a few words from him about the current Crusader gridiron machine.

In reply to our question, "How does this team compare with last year's Holy Cross eleven?", the St. Anselm coach answered, "On the whole the team is better than last year's. The main difference between the two teams is the spirit shown by the Cross players today."

TACKLES ARE WEAK SPOT

"Dr. Anderson has a better backfield than he had in 1936. With a little experience those sophomore backs will be hard to hold and just give Osmanski a little help and no team will hold him. The tackles were the easiest spot for our boys to crash. They will have to speed up a lot if they are going to do their share."

DROPPED PASS TURNING POINT

"What do you think was the turning point of the game, Cleo?" was our next query. "The pass that Bill Johnson dropped when Ouellette hit him. If Bill had held onto that ball we probably would have scored and there would have been a different complexion to the game." For those of you who do not already know it, Johnson is the brother of Rita Johnson, Worcester's contribution to Hollywood.

HAS GOOD WORD FOR RENZ, BOWMAN AND SHIELDS

The former Purple coach also had words of praise for Hilly Renz, Jim Bowman and Bill Shields. But as soon as we started talking about individual stars Cleo had to let himself go on some of his own players. And we can't blame him for being pleased with the work of McLean, Butchka, Kenney and the rest of his boys. We don't see how they can miss in the rest of the schedule. With a few more reserves St. Anselm would have made it a lot hotter for the powerful Purple.

Purple Games To Be Broadcast

Followers of the Holy Cross eleven will be able to follow this season's schedule by radio. The Atlantic Refining Company will sponsor the radio broadcasting of the Crusaders' entire ten-game schedule. A thirteen-station network will handle the clash with Colgate on November 6.

The Holy Cross schedule and the stations which will carry the games follow:

September 25—St. Anselm's — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

October 2—Providence — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

October 9—Georgetown — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

October 16 — Georgia — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

October 30 — Temple — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WIP, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

November 6 — Colgate — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WESG, WFBL, WGR, WHEC, WIBX, WMAS, WNB, WOKO, WOR, WORC, WPRO.

November 13 — Brown — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

November 20—Carnegie Tech — Stations KDKA, WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WORC, WPRO.

November 27—Boston College — Stations WDRC, WEEL, WMAS, WPRO, WTAG.

Football Teams Start Play

The 1937 Intra-mural League was inaugurated this afternoon with four hard-fought contests on Freshmen Field. Father Dullea and his assistant, Father Hart, have announced the schedule for the coming week on the Intra-mural bulletin board and team managers are requested to consult the schedule for their games this week.

Based upon last year's performances it would seem that Loyola III will be the team to watch during this campaign. Last year this club was runner-up to "Specks" Kelly and his team of pass receivers who won the title three years running. But Alumni and Beaven both promise surprises and a dark horse may arise from the freshmen corridors. The Worcester senior group has an outfit that cannot be treated lightly.

The Fall tennis tournament also began today and all entrants are asked to have their first-round matches completed by tomorrow afternoon and the results given to their class manager.

Temporary Managers

Loyola I, John J. O'Neil; Loyola II, Robert Healey; Loyola III, Gerard Ferry; Beaven I, William J. O'Brien; Beaven II, Donald O'Sullivan; Beaven III, Edward McGinity; Campion, Michael Candela; Dormitory, Leo Fittabile; Alumni I, John G. McLean; Alumni II, Richard Hildebrandt; Alumni III, Charles Kickham, O'Kane III, Tom Doherty; O'Kane IV, Joe Dorgan; Fenwick IV, Stephen Mahady; Alumni Dorm, Bill Flanagan.

HEAD COACH REVIEWS

Bill Osmanski Stars In Opening Game, Scoring Twice

By Jerry Dunican

After watching the St. Anselm's game from the side lines Saturday afternoon, we managed to find our way through a complacent crowd of well wishers to the locker room. We caught Doc Anderson's eye and let loose a barrage of questions.

The Team Will Profit by Their Mistakes

After firing our interrogations with machine gun speed, we sat back and listened carefully to what the Doc had to say. "The team," the coach replied, "is a little green as yet but they will come along. They made many mistakes but no one realizes this more than the boys themselves. There was considerable fumbling, more than you would ordinarily expect in the first game.

They're a Fine Crowd of Fellows

"They are one of the finest crowd of fellows with whom I have worked. They have the spirit and the fight which are essential if a club hopes to be successful. Those who were not in the starting line-up are fighting hard to be up there the next time. They know that their only chance to start a game is to show that they are better than the other fellow. Consequently, when they get in, they play hard and give all they have.

The Place Kicking Needs Practice

"Everyone that has ever gone to a football game knows how important it is to score that point after the touchdown. Many games have been lost through failure to convert the point after a touchdown. We had three tries and only converted once. The only answer for this is our place kickers need practice, a great deal of practice.

The Line Play Was Fair

"The line from end to end played a fair game when you consider that they are inexperienced. With a little more seasoning they should show a great improvement. Eichorn and Bodgan, substitute guards played a good game. Turner and Delaney at tackle did well when you consider that this was

FRIARS HERE SATURDAY

The ever troublesome Providence College Friars will be the next guest to be entertained by the Crusaders on the even turf of Fitton field. As usual it will be the "Monks" who provide the acid test for Doc Anderson's purple cohorts. Coming up here unpublishized and willing to trade even their red and black uniforms for a victory over their Jesuit rivals their arrival means football of the better type. Last year a powerful Crusader juggernaut crushed the Friars under a 21-6 score. Len Kuziora, Charlie Brucato and Paul Bartolomeo were the big guns in the Purple attack. For the Friars it was Bill Moge who constantly threatened, throwing passes like a northern Sammy Baugh and running with terrific power.

Any mistakes or fumbling which might pass unnoticed in an opening game are dangerous when there is a 'monk' on the field. Consequently there will be strenuous drilling on straight football this week atop Mt. St. James.

All rough spots that may be in the Crusader offense or defense must be smoothed out in this game because on the following Saturday our first major rival, Georgetown, will be here.

This week will be the first appearance for the Friars and Georgetown, thus giving the Purple a game advantage over both opponents.

Georgia our second southern rival displayed plenty of power in crushing Ogelthorpe 60 to 0. Pop Warner's powerhouse topped Virginia Military Institute and Brown University also showed its potentialities in beating their favored Connecticut State rivals. Gil Dobie's Boston College Eagles ran roughshod over a hapless Northeastern eleven 35-2.

their first varsity game. At the ends Sarno and Histon turned in a fine game.

The Backs Were Not Too Impressive

"As for the backs. Well you saw them. There were plenty of holes in the line but somehow the ball carriers missed them. The blocking wasn't anything to rave about. Many times if the blockers had taken out their men, the plays would have gone for substantial gains. The pass defense has improved. You yourself saw those interceptions but I can't understand why two of those men didn't score. However, at times our backs let a St. Anselm's man get between them and the goal. It would have meant a score if one of those passes had clicked.

Doc Liked Osmanski's Play

"Bill Osmanski turned in a fine game at right half. He proved to everyone that no matter where he plays in the backfield he can be counted upon to turn in a good game. In this afternoon's game Bill got off some real fine runs. I liked Giardi's defensive play. This Sophomore backed up the line real well. Hilly Renz did some fine work, both defensively and offensively, while he was in the game.

There Will Be Some Changes During The Week

Just before we left we asked the Doc one question which we had overlooked in the beginning. "Doc," we inquired, "will there be any changes in the team this week?" The Doc waited a moment before answering, then he said, "There will be some changes, of that you may be sure."

Sport Survey

By Dan O'Sullivan

MEMORIES

A coach remembered a certain Saturday last year and sent his team out with a spirit far different than was in their heart one year ago. Saturday there was no sympathy or sentiment in Purple hearts but there was courage and a will to regain their former status.

A player remembered that sport writers called him "just another back" because handicapped by an early game injury he failed to run wild and Saturday Bill Osmanski churned his stocky legs a little faster and threw his body a little harder, proving to all that once again All-American limelight must shine upon a Purple jersey.

Cleo O'Donnell too, remembered a year ago, how his dreams came true, but Saturday he saw higher hopes, founded on his fine little team, fading with the late afternoon sun.

PROSPECTS

Now Holy Cross looks out over its other nine opponents with confidence and poise, and a spirit that refuses to be conquered. May the flesh equal the spirit.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS

Giardi's perfect pass to the flying Osmanski and Bill's running upon receipt of same . . . Histon's beautiful carrying on the old dependable end-around play . . . Kelly, ace Hawk back, heaving his left handed passes and McLean's phantom hips when receiving those punts . . . Charlie Wadsworth's first dash . . . Hilly Renz in the last few minutes of play . . . La Tanzi's interception and run . . . St. Anselm's quick play which caught the Purple flatfooted . . . The double lateral, Ouellette to Osmanski to Bogden.

FRESHMEN ATHLETES REPORT TO TEAM COACHES

The freshman batterymen of the baseball team answered Coach Jack Barry's call on Thursday. The players were: catcher, Ed Sweeney, from New Hampton Prep, and pitchers, Thomas McManus, one of twins from Kingston, New York, Bob Peeney, who makes his home in Boston, and graduated from Boston College High School, John Hanlon, a day student from Worcester Academy, Harry Hayes, from Portland, Maine, John Guiney, who went to Arlington High, Tom Kennedy, from Bellows High in upper New York State, and Joe McManus, the other twin from Kingston, New York.

The candidates for the freshman track team donned their suits on Tuesday of last week. Candidates included Murdock, from Everett High School in Everett, Mass., a dash man; Murray, a hammer-thrower from Maplewood, New Jersey, brother of Joe Murray, last year's varsity hammer-thrower; Archinbault, from West Warwick, Rhode Island, who runs the 100 and 220.
